Perfect Cleanliness First Essential to Healthy Condition of Scalp and Hair-Certain Circumstances Require Shampoo More Often-Indian Meal Very Cleansing for Dry Shampoo-Persian Garden Stockings With Minaret Gowns-Hat Serves Double Purpose as Work Basket.

In order to keep your scalp in heal-thy condition and your hair vigorous, perfect cleanliness is the first essen-

It stands to reason that if your face must be washed frequently to keep it clean, so must your scalp. Your scalp does not differ essentially from the skin of other parts of the body. It needs intelligent treatment, that is all. Much of the harm that is attributed to the shampoo depends not so much upon the frequency as the method. The girl who lives in a busy city where soft coal soots float about will need to wash her hair more often than the girl who stays at home in a counwhere hard coal or wood is burn-And the girl whose scalp is olly will have to shampoo her hair more often than the girl with dry hair.

You can see then, that the hair might be washed under certain circumstances once or twice a week, or you might be able to keep it fresh and sweet by means of brushing, dry shampooing, and sun and air baths for a without a regular shampoo. But, as a rule, I think that once in two weeks is not too often.

best effects of a shampoo can never be gained on cloudy, damp, or rainy days. The sun has a good deal to do with the condition of the halr, and that is one reason why the hair should never be washed at night. Sometimes hearing is permanently affected by carelessness in this regard. Hair must never be done up until it is perfectly dry.

Should the ordinary shampoo not be convenient some time when you are traveling or when the weather is persistenly gloomy, freshen up the hair by taking a dry shampoo. There is nothing better for this purpose than pulverized orris root. Part the half at half inch spaces and sprinkle the powder generously on the scalp and through the hair, letting it stay for half an hour. Then brush out. Indian meal will be just as cleansing but its odor is not so attractive,

If you go to a professional shampooer always use your own brush and comb, which you will, of course, keep clean and sweet. Many scalp and hair evils follow careless habits so common in this regard.

obedience to his Creator brought upon him the curse, "Dying, thou shalt die." Under that curse our race has gone down steadily to the tomb-the Bible Hell-Sheol, Hades.

people no more; and the Redeemer will put down sin in its every form. The Savior's work at the First Advent-healing the sick and the blind. fulfil God's Promise to Abraham.

Christendom's Great Mistake.

The Pastor believes that the creeds of the Dark Ages are gross misrepresentations of God's character. Many have taken these misrepresentations too literally. As a result, some have gone to insane asylums; others have turned to pleasure and sin in their endeavor to forget God; and still others have been made unhappy as they thought of kind, good neighbors and friends who made no profession of Christianity.

The speaker then showed that Christendom's great mistake was that of disregarding God's Word and believing Satan's lie, as the heathen do. God declared that the wages of sin would be death-absence of life. Satan contradicted this and falsified to Mother Eve, assuring ber that there would be no death penalty. When death came, Satan and his fallen angels perpetuated the lie by telling us that when our friends appear to die they really become more alive than ever. In accepting their testimony we have done what St. Paul cautioned against.

Evil spirits, he claimed, have seduced Christendom by giving feigned communications between the dead and the living. As Satan and his demon host have full knowledge of human affairs. they can easily personate the dead. and through mediums, witches, planchettes, visions and dreams, represent the dead as still alive.

The Pustor then drew a picture of the coming Messianic Kingdom. He declared that as the gross darkness tlees before the dawning light of the New Dispensation we see more clearly where our mistake was. Bible students the world over are studying afresh the Word of God in its own light. Now they perceive that the resurrection hope is based upon the fact that Christ died for all.

Bible students now see that the world's blessing will be a resurrection to human perfection-a lifting up, not only from the sleep of the tomb, but also from all the weaknesses and imperfections of the flesh, back to the full image of perfection lost in Eden. redeemed at Calvary. Thus our great Redeemer will make all things new.
